

Cameraless Animation Workshops

Explore the magic of motion, projection and sound at these free workshops, open to all ages.

Come out and discover the magic of animation! The Confederation Centre Art Gallery and the Island Media Arts Festival are partnering to host cameraless animation workshops starting April 28th and running throughout the week until May 7 in the Schurman Family Studio at the Confederation Centre Art Gallery.

Cameraless animation involves drawing directly onto film and is a very accessible pioneering technique in animation. Introductory workshops will be held with award winning animator Jodee Samuelson accompanied by Dave Ward of the Island Media Arts Festival and BJ McCarville, visual arts educator at the Confederation Centre Art Gallery.

Then help create an original soundtrack!

A special sound production session will be held following animation workshops to allow participants to create an original soundtrack to accompany this collaborative animated reel.

Then come to watch the magic unveiled!

The results of all workshops will be unveiled at a public screening at the Confederation Centre Art Gallery Wednesday, May 11.
