

Jenna MacMillan – Member-at-Large

Jenna MacMillan is a director, writer and producer from Charlottetown, PEI. She is a recent graduate of the Film Production Program at Ryerson University, Toronto and the Artistic Director of Club Red Productions.

Jenna's film 'Fine Tuning' was commissioned by the City of Charlottetown for its 2011 designation as Cultural Capital of Canada and was screened at The Homburg Theatre in November, 2011.

She recently completed 'Sweethearts', a short film written by screenwriter Ann Thurlow. 'Sweethearts' and 'Fine Tuning' were both screened at the 2012 Island Media Arts Festival. Jenna's film 'Off Season' was chosen for CBC's 2010 Short Film Faceoff. This film, and 'In a While', were both shown in the 2010 Island Media Arts Festival and the 2010 Maximum Exposure film festival in Toronto.

Club Red currently has a number of projects in development including an 8-part web series about a group of twenty-somethings in Charlottetown featuring local actors, musicians, artists and graphic designers and a cinematic re-imagining of a classic sketch originally produced by a local female comedy troupe.
